J. M. McCloy.

The remains of J. M. McCloy passed through the city Saturday from McConnellsville to Newcomerstown. Mr. McCloy had occasion to go to McConnellsville and while there was seized with acute inflammation of the stomach, which eventually put a period to his life on Friday, March 29, at 5:15 p. m.

J. M. McCloy was 46 years old, was married and leaves two children, namely, Jose and Lizzie. The deceased was well known in this city, as he occupied the position of local agent of the old C. & M. R. R. a number of years ago. Removing from Marietta he took up his residence at Newcomerstown, where he has since resided. The only surviving brother is John McCloy, who accompanied the remains to Newcomerstown, where interment will take place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Mrs. John McCloy will go to Newcomerstown Monday to attend the obsequies.

Increased Demands.

The Ohio Valley Wagon Co., one of Marietta's largest manufacturing industries, is being flooded with orders for their output. Mr. Reader received a letter yesterday from F. H. Yeagery, of Denton, Texas, asking if they could supply him with eight or ten carloads per month. In the same mail came a request from L. G. Obeltree, of Dallas, Texas, wanting exclusive right for territory in that section.

Marietta has gained the reputation of producing the best "oil country wagons" on the market, and the Texas dealers are not slow to recognize the fact.

Foot Hurt.

Willie Johnson, familiarly known as "Eph," who is a hostler at Curry & Holden's livery stable, sustained a severe injury Saturday morning. A horse which he was leading stepped on his foot with such force that two toes were crushed. Medical attention was given the injury, which will preclude active exertion on Eph's part for several days.

Will Remain Here.

Members of the Presbyterian church in Cleveland have recently made advances to Rev. Dr. Roe, of the First Presbyterian church of this city, inviting him to accept a pulpit in that city. After careful consideration of the matter, Dr. Roe concluded that he would not leave his charge here and accordingly made that announcement to his congregation at the prayer meeting on Wednesday night.

OIL NEWS.

DOWN IN TEXAS.

No new developments were reported from Texas yesterday. The new gusher owned by the Southwestern Oil company and located half a mile northeast of Guffey Co's gusher is shut in and will not be opened for some time. With the pipe line uncompleted and only as yet a limited amount of tankage up, the problem of taking care of the oil is unsolved. A half dozen wells will be ready to drill in within the next ten days, and if they are as large as the first two the production will be enormous. J. M. Guffey and Co. have completed a 28,000 bbl. tank at their gusher and have the grade made for another of the same capacity. The pumping station has nearly reached completion and is composed of a battery of eight boilers and a pumping capacity of 24,000 barrels a day. The company is building two tanks each of 52,000 bbls. capacity at the station and is putting up six more of the same size at Ewesta, seven miles southeast of the station, to be used for storage purposes and from which they will load vessels at Port Arthur. The Port Arthur end of the line from Ewesta has not been completed. The oil has been found very satisfactory for fuel under the boiler for running the pipe cutting machines and for filling the tank cars at the loading rack. Work has been very much delayed on account of inability of the railroads to deliver material and supplies promptly. The work of sinking the wells has been done by the Rotary process. Several contractors are rigging up and will drill with the regulation tools and cable and claim that they will have no trouble and will make much better progress.—Derrick.

SEWING SCHOOLS

Finish Their Terms Saturday and Celebrate Their Respective Anniversaries.

The free sewing schools of the Unitarian and Episcopal churches closed Saturday after having been in session for a period of time extending over four months. These schools, while they have existed for a quarter of a century, are comparatively speaking, unknown to a considerable portion of the Marietta public. The motive which inspired their founders, was to establish a school where the useful arts of sewing and cutting garments might be taught to the children of poor parents. Meeting every Saturday during the winter months of the year and guided by patient and noble teachers, the children are brought to realize the virtue of cleanliness, neatness and industry. The little seamstresses are not hampered by iron clad rules forbidding communication, but are allowed all liberties consistent with the performance of their work. Each child is furnished with all her material and is taught to fashion it into garments which when finished are presented to her. This method incites each girl to perform her work to the best of her ability and so inculcates habits of thrift and care.

The sewing school of the Unitarian church was organized just thirty years ago Saturday. Its sessions have been as follows: Mrs. C. P. Regnier, President and Treasurer; Mrs. Helen Morgan, Vice President; Mrs. H. E. Holden, Secretary. The average attendance during the period has been 28, and these have assembled on 22 afternoons. The material used represents 88 yards of cloth, which has been made into 137 garments.

Rev. E. A. Coil gave an interesting address to the children and the proceedings were closed with fitting ceremonies.

The duplicate school of the Episcopal church celebrated its twenty-seventh anniversary Saturday afternoon. Its meetings have been contemporaneous with the Unitarian school and the promoters of both have been identical. The average attendance at the Unitarian school has been 35. Two hundred yards of material have been used up and 121 pieces have been completed. The ages of the girls attending range from 8 to 13 years.

The results achieved have been most gratifying and it is therefore with a sense of encouragement and congratulation that the teachers bade their little charges good bye. Before closing, however, the ladies of the Unitarian church treated the children to ice cream and cake, which proved most acceptable to the juvenile needlewomen.

Personal Modesty or Official Vanity?

Editor Leader:—There appears to be some funny features incidental to the matter of the court house corner stone.

The Board of Commissioners have taken great pains to notify the public through yesterday's issues of the city papers of their meeting to be held at certain hours on Tuesday and Friday next and have extended a kind invitation to "any and all citizens" to appear before them at such times and "make known their desires and wishes in regard to the deposits to be placed in the corner stone." It has occurred to a goodly number of citizens of our county that it would have been, to say the least, quite as timely and appropriate had the Commissioners seen fit to extend such an invitation and invite such expression with regard to the inscription to be made upon the outside of the stone, before they decided upon such inscriptions. It will be remembered that the Board of Trade, composed of a large and representative number of citizens, appointed a committee to confer with the Commissioners with respect to this matter; but notwithstanding the fact that this committee has made diligent effort to secure such a hearing, none has been granted them, although two members of the Board did descend to talk the matter over with the committee in an informal way. It is evident to everyone that the Commissioners are very willing that those whom they delight to honor may entombs in the corner stone such articles, papers and manuscripts as they may desire, provided only that the names of the honorable members of the Board of Commissioners and those of other officers selected by them, as well as the names of the architects and builders are inscribed in bold letters upon the outside, where they may be seen and read by all men; a conspicuous and lasting advertisement upon a bill board furnished and paid for by the taxpayers of the county.

There is another amusing feature in the fact that each and all of the Commissioners have expressed their names shall not appear upon the stone, while at the same time, in their corporate capacity, they passed unanimously a resolution ordering such inscriptions and directing the contractor to make them. It has been suggested by some that if the gentlemen are sincere in their expressions of their personal desires in this matter it would be well for them to prosecute legal proceedings against the official Board to prevent the inscription of their individual names from being made.
